California Public Protection & Physician Health (CPPPH)

All of CPPPH activities are based on the understanding that supporting physician health contributes to public safety by providing services for physicians who face medical, substance use, psychological, behavioral and/or emotional issues that, if left unaddressed, could adversely impact their ability to deliver safe patient care.

CPPPH was formed in 2009 jointly by the California Medical Association, the California Hospital Association, California Society of Addiction Medicine, and the California Psychiatric Association to address the need for focused education, technical advice and consultation for medical staffs and medical groups to support their physician health activities. Full information about its activities is on the website www.CPPPH.org.
